

WILL UNITE TWO BRANCHES UNDER ONE DEPARTMENT

Health Board Announces Appointment of Dr. Olney, Formerly of Detroit.

Consolidation of the food and dairy departments under one head is announced by Dr. Charles S. Rosenbury, successor to Dr. E. G. Freymuth, secretary of the board of health, as a new feature of the incoming administration. The measure is being adopted from the standpoint of economy.

Announcement was also made of three hold-over appointments of the board.

The following persons will continue to hold their respective positions: Miss Minnie Kempe, clerk; Lemuel Esca, quarantine officer; John F. Stuckey, sanitary officer. Under the new schedule of reorganization of the food and dairy inspection bureau of the department, Dr. J. P. Olney of Detroit, will become its head, holding the title of food and dairy inspector.

E. J. Champagne will be the custodian of the isolation hospital.

To Name Plumbing Inspector.

A plumbing inspector will be appointed later. An examination will be held Monday, Jan. 6, by a committee of three master plumbers to be appointed by the incoming health board. Included among the present applicants for the position are: W. P. Downes, present incumbent; Mike Kish, J. Alex Higgins and Fred P. Schick.

The personnel of the venereal clinic, which is proposed by the new board will be continued, according to Dr. Rosenbury will remain as at present.

Dr. Olney, the new food and dairy inspector, will come here, according to the new city health director, well recommended for the office. A graduate of the Michigan Agricultural college and a licensed veterinarian, he has served in the veterinary corps of the U. S. Army, was bacteriologist for Pennsylvania State college and later pathologist for the Detroit board of health.

Practice Economy.

A hint of economy enters into the program of the new board. Under the plan of reorganization, the new appointee will have supervision of all foods, including milk and dairy products. Heretofore the board has employed a dairy inspector on a part-time basis, and two food inspectors. In this connection Dr. Rosenbury said:

"It has been deemed best to employ someone who is experienced and whose training has been such as to supervise the food supply of the city and put under inspection of food on a higher plane than has been possible heretofore. For the time being, Dr. Olney will combine the work of food and dairy inspection, but will be given an assistant at a later date."

Three Old Liquor Cases Are Disposed of in City Court

Three liquor law violators against whom cases have been pending from two to six months pleaded guilty before special judges in city court Friday.

Matthew Horvath, a milkman, living at 1824 Catalpa av., whose home was the scene of a raid by federal agents Oct. 25, was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to six months in the county jail. The jail sentence, the heaviest imposed in local courts for mere possession, was suspended. Atty. A. N. Higgins was special judge.

Fred Miller, 812 Cherry st., charged with unlawful possession, received a fine of $100 and costs and sentenced to four months in the county jail. Because it was his first offense, according to Dep. Pros. Frank E. Coughlin the court's suspension, sentence did not meet with serious objection. Atty. Lenn J. Gars sat as trial judge.

Walter Pryski, 2313 W. Sample st., at whose home the police last August found an improvised wash-bowl still and two quarts of liquor, pleaded guilty before Special Judge Osgood and was assessed a fine of $100 and costs. A jail sentence of 60 days requested by the deputy prosecutor was suspended. The defendant's wife mitigated the evidence against him by testifying that the still was her own make and the liquor found at the W. Sample st. address was of unsalable quality. It being her first offense.

MASONS ENDORSE BUILDING PLANS

Fraternity Members Have Mass Meeting—Hear Address by Eugene Osgood.

Architectural plans and specifications for the proposed new Masonic temple to be erected at the corner of Main and Marion sts., were subjects of discussion at a mass meeting of members of all Masonic lodges at the high school auditorium last night. Bishop John H. White presided.

The feature of the mass meeting was an address by Eugene Osgood of the architectural firm of Osgood and Osgood, Grand Rapids, Mich., who prepared the plans for the proposed temple. Concluding the meeting, Bishop White moved that the Masons present endorse the action of the board of directors initiating the movement for the new structure and called upon the Masonic membership to get behind their efforts to put the undertaking over successfully. The motion was carried unanimously with the crowd jumping to their feet.

Stereopticon slides assisted Osgood in portraying the various drawings of the proposed building. In addition slides portrayed exterior views of the Grand Rapids temple, declared to be one of the most attractive Masonic buildings in the country, from which the proposed new temple for South Bend is patterned after in part.

C. C. Shafter and Col. George M. Stuebker, chairman of the board of directors and building committee respectively followed Osgood, who in turn was followed by John De Haven, chairman of the committee on arrangements for the mass meeting. Several prominent Masons were included in the speaking program. Lunch was served in the cafeteria of the school building immediately following the meeting.

Plans for raising the remainder of the amount needed to finance the proposed temple will be laid before the different Masonic lodges of the city and district at their next stated meetings. It was announced at last night's meeting. Half of the $750,000, the estimated cost of the structure, has already been pledged by individual members.

New Administration Will Have Funds to Run City

Approximately $275,000 will remain on the city comptroller's books for use of the incoming Seavirt administration, according to unpublished reports available from Comptroller John A. Swygart's staff, and made known by the city comptroller Friday.

This balance is estimated said Swygart, as sufficient to run the city until spring, or until tax paying time, and quells the rumor current in some quarters that the city will be compelled to float another bond issue to tide city hall finances over the winter.

According to Comptroller Swygart, who will be succeeded Monday by Herman A. Tohulka, the new appointee, the tract elevation fund is now intact, amounting to approximately $245,000, with interest due Jan. 1, included. This fund had been borrowed on by various city departments but recent bond issues to the water works and general fund have resulted in the return of the money. The fund is now intact, according to the comptroller, for the first time in eight years.

Complete figures covering receipts and disbursements of the city for the year will be available before Monday, Swygart said.

CENTRAL PUMPING PLANT OPERATIVE: IS OPEN TO PUBLIC

With the coupling of a vacuum pump installed for the purpose of lifting water from the wells through the manifolds to the main discharge pumps, the new Central station was put into operation Friday two days before scheduled. Final adjustments and switchboard connections will be completed by Saturday night and the new pumping station proposed four years ago to take the place of the worn out old one, will become an important addition to the city water-works system. The public is invited to inspect the station.

Actual letting of contract for the erection of the building took place less than a year ago, the three years previous being taken up by the board of water-works commissioners in preliminary work covering engineering estimates proving the feasibility of the undertaking. Laboratory conditions attendant to the work of the water-works commission, and the beginning of work by the contracting company.

The new station, which is situated at the foot of Washington av., on the west bank of the St. Joseph river, is a model of new construction. Steam engines are not used, all power being electrical. The pumps, of turbine type, have a 10,000,000 gallon emergency capacity. Two gangs of one 3,000,000 gallon and one 1,000,000 gallon pumps alternate in supplying the mains an average of 5,000,000 gallons daily. The double capacity of the station is for use in case of fire or temporary breakdown in any part of the machinery.
